Families Are Able
To Survive A Crisis

Meet Quinn, a Mother of Five

Quinn never had to worry about money. She worked hard to provide for her five children. But when her employer restructured, Quinn became unemployed and unable to buy food and pay rent. Soon, the family was living in a car. "I was at a loss. I had never gone through anything like this," says Quinn.

Catholic Charities partnered with other agencies to secure housing and to help Quinn find a job and get back on her feet. "You never know how many people care until you enter a place like Catholic Charities and they tell you, don't worry, we are going to help you," remarks Quinn.

Every Child Matters

Meet Nick, a Fun-loving Kid

Nick can't talk, yet his spirit speaks volumes. Nick is a 12-year old boy with disabilities, who loves to have fun. His parents searched for a suitable summer camp, and after being turned down by many, they were welcomed to Catholic Charities' Camp Happiness. Being able to drop Nick off with trained, caring professionals and knowing that he is safe provides his family with peace of mind.

For eight weeks each summer, Nick participates in fun and games, crafts, field trips and friendship. "The best part of Camp Happiness is that Nick gets to be a kid," says his dad, Chris. "He comes home dirty, muddy, and with a smile on his face every day."
